The tool would use systems that could automatically flag a student as needing support based on their responses, as well as other techniques such as sentiment analysis on written responses. This is to assist instructors with identifying students in need in large cohorts. Additionally, instructors could manually flag students they felt as needing extra support (from interactions in labs, etc.). Please rank the following in importance to you regarding the transparency of the system.

	Average Rank	1	2	3	4	5
Knowing the reason why I have been flagged	2.0
